Concern India Foundation

●● Concern India Foundation is a registered, non-profit charitable trust that works towards helping people help themselves. Our aim is to make the disadvantaged self-reliant and enable them to lead a life of dignity. Set up in 1991, Concern India Foundation extends financial and non-financial aid to grassroots organisations working in the areas of education, health and community development.

We provide support to grassroots NGOs that show a high level of commitment to their work, but lack the time or expertise to raise financial and other assistance. By bridging the gap between these NGOs and corporates and individuals who wish to support developmental work in the country, we enable them to concentrate on their core activities. With almost 25 years in the social sector, we have developed rigorous monitoring and evaluation processes to ensure that funds are disbursed judiciously and are being translated into results on the ground.

In 2014-15, we extended support to over 270 NGOs through our offices in Mumbai, New Delhi, Pune, Bengaluru, Kolkata, Hyderabad and Chennai. In the last year itself, through education, health, and community development initiatives, senior citizen and disability care, self-help groups, vocational training, child and women intervention and various other programmes, our work has directly impacted the lives of over 1,90,000 people across India.

NIRAV MODI

●● When Nirav Modi is asked about the inspiration behind his jewels, the answer is very simple — the woman who is going to wear them. “My ultimate purpose is for the woman to experience delight every time she wears the jewel”, he explains.

This principle guides the aesthetic and philosophy of NIRAV MODI. The hand of the jeweller sculpts to the nuances and movements of a woman; her joy and comfort are placed above all else. In an ode to femininity, each NIRAV MODI jewel is sparkling, sensual and fluid.

“A woman exudes an aura and the jewel becomes part of her essence.” The NIRAV MODI jewel is classic and timeless, ensuring eternal appreciation as it is passed down from generation to generation.

Pichhwai by Nilesh Kumar

Medium: Stone colour on cloth • Size: 62" x 39"

Provenance: The artist

●● Pichhwais – literally translating to ‘that which hangs at the back’ – are a form of traditional Rajasthani paintings used to adorn temple walls behind the idol of Srinathji. The artwork personifies him as a prince surrounded by his gopis in different attire, postures and moods.

The primary centre of the craft is Nathdwara. As the legend goes, an idol of Srinathji was being transported by chariot from Govardhan hill further south to protect it from the iconoclastic policies of Aurangzeb; however, partway through the journey, the vehicle sank into mud and wouldn't budge. Interpreting this as a sign from the Lord himself, the accompanying party moved the idol to a temple in the area and the rest, as they say, is history. The art form is an ancient one, passed on through generations; Nilesh Kumar is the craftsman behind this particular piece and stems from a long line of traditional Pichhwai artists. This striking work of indigenous art will be a valuable addition to your collection!

'Charulata' by Sudip Roy

Medium: Watercolour on paper • Size: 20.5" x 14"

Provenance: The artist

●● Sudip Roy graduated from the Government College of Art & Craft, Kolkata, in 1983. He works across different mediums such as oil, charcoal and watercolours. His control of shade and light gives wonderful depth to his work. Arguably his most celebrated work, the Charulata series is inspired by the Satyajit Ray film portraying the enigmatic, beautiful, and bored housewife of a newspaper editor. Charulata is depicted in intense loneliness, her face always hidden. "She observes the activities of the outside world through the window blinds using opera glasses. She looks into the mirror to recognize herself. She is like a caged bird in her mansion. We sense her curiosity and desire to know the outside world," says Roy. The recipient of several awards including a Gold Medal from the Sahitya Parishad Kolkata (1979), Sudip Roy has hosted exhibitions in several cities both in India and abroad.

Make a difference with Concern India Foundation

●● We at Concern India Foundation envision a future in which individuals are self-reliant; where all they need is opportunity, not charity; indeed, where our organisation is no longer necessary. Our work aims to make a difference in the lives of the underprivileged at any point in their life cycle, no matter how old or young. We urge you to consider donating to any of the programmes outlined below; your contribution will add invaluable to the lives of our beneficiaries.

1. Support classes and tutorials for 30 students

Children residing in urban slums often miss out on a holistic education. Your donation will help create a strong educational base for students to complete high school and prepare them for a career-oriented education. It will be used to provide mentoring, tutoring and financial support to students and offer coaching for entrance exams to courses they wish to pursue.

Cost of supporting 30 students for 1 year:
₹ 1,00,000

2. Computer training for 25 underprivileged children

Your contribution will help teach students by using digital tools and enable computer training and the use of ICT to supplement their education, preparing them for a future in which these skills are no longer an added bonus, but a necessity.

Cost of supporting 25 children for 1 year: ₹ 1,00,000

3. Help provide food, healthcare, and shelter for 12 senior citizens

We offer support to neglected and abandoned senior citizens by providing them with housing facilities, basic daily requirements and fulfilling their medical needs. Many suffer critical ailments such as Alzheimer's and dementia; others have been brought in from the roadside, temples, and hospitals. They are relocated to residential care facilities where their needs are met and they are able to live more fulfilled lives.

Cost of supporting 12 senior citizens for 1 year: ₹ 50,000

Donations will be accepted at the venue by credit card or cheques in favour of Concern India Foundation.

Donations to Concern India Foundation are exempt under Section 80 G of the Income Tax Act 1961.
